War as at the same time an artund a science. All other things equal, superiority in numbers must prevail. But the race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the s rong. G nius, contage, knowledge and judgment supply the place of numbers. The whole seisuce may be divided into two heads, viz: Tactics and strategy. Tactics is the art of disposing ferces In order of battle and performing evolutions. Strategy is the science of directing great movemente. These are by no means identical, but in a good officer are never suparate.

Cavalry is placed in the second rank to infantry. It is but an auxiliary ; by i'self it can effect but little, and in many circumstances does not suffic for its own safety. The man and horse are considered one-the strength and rapidity of the horse schmitted to the will of the man. Cavalry is used offensively, and depends on the ground. It is very effective on level ground, almost useless where the land is broken or obstructed. Like infantry, it form: line, column and open order; but the line is its true made of action. Cavairy in attack expoot change its front-it must dash on. The charge must be short, the flanks well protected, and the speed increased to its highest point. The fire-arms of cavalry have never been considered of much value. The pistols of the trooper are more for self-defense, to give signals and to alarm. The range of the horse pisted is about lifty paces. When acting as beavy country, its duties are usually confined to the field of battle; there, placed in reserve, it is held in hand until the decisive moment arrives, when it is sent forth to achieve victory or prevent a defeat. When acting na light cavalry, its dulies are to secure the heavy envalry from surprise, to watch over the safety of the field stilliery, and to perform the services required of it by the infantry divisions, and those pertaining to outposts and detachment service in general.

Artiflery is placed third in rank among the erms. Like envalry, it is an auxiliary, it is incapable of properly defeading itself, and must always be protected by a sufficient force of cavalry or infantry. The heavy field arry comprises the 12 pounder gan, and the 24 and 32-pounder howitzer They are generally reserved for patteries in position, and are a ldom shifted during an action. The light field artillery is composed of the 6-pounder field gun and the 12-pounder howsteen. A letter from Knowville, Tenn., date i June 21, says: Rev. Mr. Harrison, paster of the First Presbyterian church in this place, attended the late meeting of the Old School General Assembly in Philadelphia. Last Sunday, after the morning sermon, he made a report to his congregation. He gave a sad and awful picture of the scenes enacted on the floor of the assembly, and of the spirit of hostility that animates the people of Philadelphia against the South. The proceedings were conducted without the solem aity and gravity that have berelofore marked he meetings of the venerable body ; fierce po litical feeling constantly vented itself, and the church was contact in August 19 and the church with expressions of contempt, scora and derinion for the South—and it might almost be said, with laughter and jesting ! In times like the present the company cashing command each to pay for labor essential to the rapid development of the company's interests; but for a termic years, by hire or by the actual porchase, this company will make the most liberal and advantageous arrangements with slave-owners in Kentucky Missouri, Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, or elsewhere for the hire of purchase, with payments in the most undoubted scinities, of 500 or 1000 clayes. Families entire will be taken, either by hire or by puries entire will be taken either by hire or by meaning of the ministeent land grains by Texas, and the shilling to purchase the iron and relling stock for the en-tire road across Texas, with the construction bonds of the company, at rates almost equal to cash. All the rights of this company has lead and vested by the laws of Texas. This company has secured the sympathy, and the value on the 32 degree of parallel of latting has the come on the 32 degree of parallel of latitude has the spacetion, of several of the most powerful European governments—absong them are France, Spain, Pringal, Balgium and Switzerland—as well as of large capital ists, commercial meas and contracture of these countries. The latitudess of the United States passed a bill, at its last session, donating to this company, through Aricons, New Mexico and California, some 18,060 000 acres of land, and a lean of thirty-six unitions of solars, to be reputed in postal and other public services. This bill passed he House of Representatives, was amended in the Senate and only failed to become alaw for the want of time and the starting political events familiar to the nation.

No company in the world has a larger bath for its successful presentation, and no company has altracted successful prosecution, and no company has attracted and a cured to its if the approbation of so many Apper-
